Advanced Energy is a nationally renowned research, program design and training institution. It has for decades provided design, training, support and analysis for utility companies, state energy offices and high performance building programs such as Environments for Living (EFL).

Are You Prepared for the Future?

Weatherization | Retro-fit | Job Training

Is your current business model air tight?

Is it sustainable, able to weather the current economic storm? Experts predict that as the home building industry changes, contractors will need to update their skill sets to successfully adapt to the future of our industry.

The Training

Greenfiber is offering a program tailored to contractors who are seeking to expand their business into the growing Retrofit/Weatherization market. Our training is designed to meet the following standards:

- DOE's Weatherization Assistance Program
- EPA's Home Performance with Energy Star
- Building Performance Institute (BPI)

Our training is comprised of four modules:

1. Attic air sealing
2. Duct sealing
3. Attic insulating
4. Side wall insulating

Analysis of energy retrofit and government funded weatherization (WAP) programs has regularly shown that air sealing and insulation are the top priorities.

In order to provide the contractor with a system which will assure consistent assessment, job instruction, quality assurance and process improvement, Greenfiber trainers are certified to teach Advanced Energy's "House Characterization" program.

Who Should Attend

Our training program is specifically designed for:

- Team Leader
- Supervisor
- Quality Control
- Crew Leader

Greenfiber's program offers industry leading instruction providing a comprehensive instructional toolbox that provides repeatable, testable training for all crew members.

Attendees Will Receive:

- Comprehensive Sales Tools
- Documented Processes
- Money Saving Procedures
- Evaluation Procedures and Test Forms
- Certificate of Completion
